Who we are

Charlie Arthur Curtis was born on 29/12/2012 at Leeds General Infirmary, he lived for just 19 minutes. Charlie died from a very rare condition, Potter's Syndrome.

After leaving hospital Charlie's mummy, Carrie-ann Curtis found there was very little support for herself and her family. She found this was not an isolated thing.

After we conducted research in 2014 we found that in 2013/14 there were 32,000 bereaved parents and families in Leeds who were on a waiting list for counselling and support. And another 500,000 across the UK. It also highlighted that depending on your postcode the waiting list for NHS support was anything from 6 to 18months.

As a family we decided to do something and this is why we founded Charlies-Angel-Centre.

We have continuously campaigned for better services for all bereaved parents and families and we develop the services we provide in response to what families say they would benefit from.

For any parent losing their baby/child, their loss has a devastating impact on both themselves and other members of their families. We know this from the 1000's of people who contact us each year.

Our aim is to continue to campaign for better bereavement care, not just in Leeds but across the UK.

We will continue to seek support for our petition on Change.org, calling for people to sign, share & increase the pressure on government for our No baby No care campaign.
